TRI-STATE AGENTS

All Anxious to Win Prizes for Exhibit at the 1920 Fair.

Keen rivalry has developed between county and demonstration agents in Arkansas. Mississippl and Tennessee to see which county can make the biggest and best agricultural showing at the Tri-State fair, beginning Sept. 25. Incidentally the winner will get a cash premium of $250, an award that has considerable to do with the interest.

The state and county exhibits this year will be in a building to themselves. W. M. Landess, superintendent, says that it will be filled to overflowing with a bigger variety of diversified crops than in the history of the Memphis exposition. Arkansas and Tennessee counties have already taken all available space.

crops than in the history of the Memphis exposition. Arkansas and Tennessee counties have already taken all available space.

The Mississippi exhibit will be a state exhibit instead of a county display, the extension forces of Mississippi A. and M. college to collect and bring it to Memphis. Space allotted is in the center of Agricultural building No. 1.

The Tennessee and Arkansas counties will compete on a basis of quality, variety, arrangement and educational value. In addition to the big cash premium for the winner, other awards will be second, $299; third, $175; fourth, $150; fifth, $125; sixth, seventh, eighth, ininth and tenth, $100 cach.

That the expense of collecting and showing the county exhibits will not fail entirely upon each county, the fair this year will allow $50 cash to each county exhibiting that does not get in the winning ten places. Another attractive feature to bring out some exceptionally fine displays is an arrangement to give cash awards of $25 for the best exhibit by a farm demonstration agent; $15 for second best, and $10 for third.

The attractive means of helping farm agents and demonstrators get up good exhibits this year is expected to result in a wonderful showing of farm products, not only as regards quality but with respect to variety, etc. It will show possibilities on farms in the tri-states. The only thing to rival the agricultural show will be the live stock show and with these two important keystone departments handsomely provided for this year, to say nothing of new educational and amusement features added, the Memphis fair this year will be a higger drawing card than in its history.

Train Seized By Alleged Strikers Found Undamaged

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—The freight train seized here last night by a band of men, believed to be members of the triking "outlaw" switchmen, was found, early today near Bensonville, lil, with the throttle wide open and the 21 freight cars apparently untouched. Several battles between freight crews

Several battles between freight crews and bands of the striking switchmen, who never regained their jobs, preceded the theft of the train shortly before midnight last night in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul yards, at Cicero, Milwaukee & St. Paul yards, at Cicero, a suburb.

Thomas White, the engineer, was driven from his post at the point of a gun and when Bert Zimpone, the fireman, resisted, he was badly beaten. White immediately gave the alarm and after several hours' search the train was found. Rallroad officials believe the throttle had been pulled wide open and the train then abandoned by the band who stole it. It had apparently run down for lack of steam.

White said the manner in which the thieves handled the engine convinced him they were experienced railroad men. Five suspects were takn into custedy early today by the police.

CINCINNATI VISITOR PRAISES BLUFF CITY

"The enterprise of a city is gauged by its care of the sick, the dead and the young," asserted T. H. Tobener, of Cincinnati, who is registered at the Chisca. "Judging by that standard," he continued, "Memphis takes very high rank indeed from all that I can see.

"Your hospitals are wonderful for efficiency and equipped with the latest and most scientific appliances. I understand, too, that a large amount of research work is done with commendable results. The cemeteries here are kept up so beautifully that they can compare with either Greenwood, Brooklyn, or Druid Hill, Louisville.

"Memphis is wise, too, in laying stress upon schools. Tou have a commendable number of academies, though their number could be increased with profit. A man or woman, no matter where they may go, never forget the city in which they have received their schooling, and sooner or later return to it. It is an investment that pays for itself many times over. I sincerely hope for the welfare of Memphis that Presbyterian college here. You will never regret it."

Scouts Heroes In Rail Wreck

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 3. (Spl.)—Boy Scouts returning from their camp at Wonderland Park, Sevier county, were heroes late Thursday when flat cars carrying logs broke loose on the mountainside, tearing up the track and endangering passengers.

An improvised stretcher of tent poles and blanket was made to carry an injured woman to another car sent from Townsend, while scout axes and knives were used to cut a passage and stone steps were built for other passengers who were helped to the coach.

Shields Took No Part In Fight On Suffrage Resolution

During the fight in the Tennessee legislature over the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment the antisuffragists endeavored to enlist the support of Senator Shields and the suffragists were on the alert to discover some form of activity on his part. No one was able to find that he took any part in the fight.

The first expression of his attitude to be made public is a letter written by the senator to Mrs. C. C. Gilbert, a Nashville antisuffragist. His letter was as follows:

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 13, 1920.

My Dear Mrs. Gilbert.—I have just received your telegram sent me at Knoxville requesting me to use all possible influence against ratification of the suffrage amendment by the general assembly now in session. I would be glad to do most anything you would ask me, but I don't thing it proper to take part in this contest. The constitution of the United States vests in congress the power to propose amendments to that instrument, and in the general assemblies of the several states the power to accept or reject them. In my opinion members of the congress are violating the spirit of the constitution, at least when having exercised their powers they go to the state capitols and undertake to control the general assemblies, thus arrogating to themselves, not only the power to propose, but the power to accept amendments. With this view of the proprieties of the matter, I feel that I should not take any part in the contest and will no do so. I regret to see Tennessee humiliated by the assumption of nonresident that our people haven't the intelligence and ability to determine a question of constitutional policy for themselves. With kindest regards, I am, very truly your friend, (Sigued)

CHICAGO. Sept. 3.—Subpoenas for a dozen or more witnesses were sent out today by the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, while the committee took a recess until Tuesday. Many of those summoned, it was understood, were cited to the committee members by E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, O., preconvention manager of Gov. Cox.

"I have the names of men who can give absolute proof that, before the public conscience was aroused, the heads of this money-getting organization publicly boasted that the Blair plan would raise $16,000,000." Mr. Moore declared in a statement.

One of the subpoenas isused today was for Harry N. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee. Mr. Moore declared Blair was "the father of the city quota plan." which was referred to by Gov. PONZI'S LIABILITIES PUT AT $6,948,267

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 3.—Charles Ponzi's labilties as a result of his spec-tacular financial dealings through his Securities Exchange company stand at $5.948,267, according to Edwin L. Pride, the accountant employed by the federal authorities to audit Ponzi's accounts. Mr. Pride submitted his report to District Attorney Gallagher.

The report says no cash book was I kept to show receipts and expenditures ; kept to show receipts and expenditures and that there is not sufficient information on the stubs of check books to show for what disbursements were made, thousands of dollars having been paid out with only the memorandum "payment due this day."

The auditor says it is extremely difficult to determine the exact amounts of original investments because many note holders "pyramided." letting their money with the accumilated interest remain with Ponzi instead of taking up their notes at maturiay, and many others took up their notes but reinvested the interest received.

Some of the hundreds had not seen sugar since the first months of the war. They immediately began to delve with their fingers into the sweet stuff. General attacks were launched at a few who tried to pocket the bowls. Before the riot ended all guards, waiters and kitchen employes had to be rushed to the scene.

Individual sugar packages will be distributed hereafter at meals, it was announced later.

"The Polish government has issued instructions for military occupation of Lithuanian territory, after having deceived Lithuanian officials by expressing friendly and peaceful intentions." Bloodshed can be avoided only if the Poles withdraw," the foreign minister is quoted as declaring. They must await the fixing of a temporary line of demarcation which must be decided upon in agreement with the Lithuanian government."

The note says the Poles attacked Lithuanian troops while boundary negotiations were pending.
